Observance of Jesus' Resurrection From the Dead Will Be Well Suited For the Services to Be Held in Churches

SERMONS APPROPRIATE

All Protestant Denominations Will Receive Members — By Confession of Faith, By Confirmation, And By Letter — Special Music Will Feature

Weather prognostications are to the effect that Easter day will be "sunshiny." However this may be, the elements will have no effect on the interest and attendance at divine services as held in the Protestant and Catholic churches of the borough. The edifices will doubtless be well filled. Aside from the Easter sermons by the pastors, largely of a commemorative nature, or having the thought of Christ's resurrection from the dead and its influence on human life, as inspiration, there will be special music, a diffusion and profusion of flowers; cantatas will be rendered in the majority, if not all, the Protestant churches, while Catholics will, as it their custom and ruling of the church, make their Easter duty. In the Protestant churches members will be received by confession of faith, through confirmation, and by letter. If there is any one Sunday above another in which all the churches will be filled, it will be tomorrow, another anniversary occasion of the festival of Easter.

MAY GRAND JURY IS CALLED FOR APRIL 28

Under the court rule which became effective some months ago, and which made a change in the time of the convening of criminal court and common pleas court, the grand jury for the May term will meet on April 28, one week from next Monday, instead of on the first Monday of May, the 5th, as it would have done under the old rule. It seems rather unusual for the grand jury to be meeting in April, as always heretofore it has met on the first Monday of February, May and November. In August, on account of the hot weather, it does not meet until the third Monday, or the 18th.

Through an oversight recently in drawing the grand and petit jurors, the venire set forth they were summoned for May 5 and 12 respectively. However, all jurors, grand and petit, have been notified since that the grand jury meet on April 28, instead of May 5, and the petit jury one week later, May 5.

Common pleas court will be convened on May 19, for a four weeks term. Jurors drawn for that court are summoned, the first panel for May 19, and the second panel for Monday, June 2.

This week and during the coming

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG IS IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

Port Wayne, Ind., April 19.—(United Press)—Clara Kimball Young, film and stage actress, sustained a sudden relapse and is in a serious condition, it was stated by attending physicians today.

Miss Young, who suffered an attack of appendicitis during a performance at a local theatre last Tuesday night, will probably undergo an operation today or tomorrow, if she is strong enough.

All hope of her being able to resume her theatrical work for a number of weeks has been abandoned. Her manager cancelled her engagements and the supporting cast in the production in which she was starring is returning to New York today.

RUNAWAY BOYS ARE TAKEN BACK TO OHIO

The father of Paul Boehling came here and took his son to the family home at East Palestine, Ohio. A brother of James Pegg took the lad home with him to Fayette City, and left with him today for East Palestine. Ohio. These two lads, both aged about 14, were picked up on the streets of Charleroi by Chief of Police James A. Murphy. They were runaways.

SPLENDID PROGRAM AT THE LUTHERAN CHURCH

Christ Lutheran church will render "The Resurrection," by R. M. Stolz, a cantata, at their Easter evening service. A splendid program has been arranged by the choir under the direction of Alfred Lange, including a number of vocal and instrumental solos. The friends of the church are cordially invited.

CANTATA AT M. E. CHURCH

"The Greatest Love," a cantata, by H. W. Petrie, will be rendered by the choir of the M. E. church on Easter morning, under the direction of A. H. Bosson, assisted by the following well-known musicians:

Mrs. Robert Coyle, violin; Alfred Horn, viola; Darwin Barth, cello. Alfred Lang bass viola; Miss Gertrude Donaldson, piano; Miss Mary Welch, organ.

"The Greatest Love" should prove a real treat to lovers of good music, especially to those who appreciate difficult music.

This cantata has very seldom, if at any time, been rendered by an amateur choir, and Charleroi should indeed feel proud of having such an array of talent.

Many Forest Trees Shipped Into County

Harrisburg, Pa., April 16.—Two hundred and fifty-one thousand, four hundred forest trees and transplants have been shipped from the forest tree nursery at the Western Training School at Morgantown in Washington county.

Under a cooperative plan between the Training School and the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, the students at the Training School plant and care for the trees; while the Department of Forests and Waters provides the seeds and planting stock, and pays all the handling expenses.

The trees shipped from this nursery were supplied to 28 land owners for reforestation, Scotch pine, pitch pine, European larch, and arbutus were the principal kinds of trees distributed from this nursery. Daniel E. Dummire, a Senior at the State Forest School, Mont Alto, supervised the nursery and shipping work.

EASTER EXCITEMENT FRIGHTENS A BRIDE

Pittsburgh, April 19.—(United Press)—Mrs. John P. Tooney, 17, an Easter season bride, became lost in the winding streets of Pittsburgh, and was taken to a police station. She was so badly frightened she could only tell her husband's first name and could not remember where she resided. There was a happy reunion when the husband arrived at the station house to report his wife missing.

BARBER SHOP IS IN THE LOOTED AREA

Pittsburgh, April 19.—(United Press)—Safe crackers knocked the combination from the strong box of the Fred F. Huebert Barber shop in the basement of the Anchor bank building, 1011 Smith street, late last night and stole between $300 to $400 in money, overlooking considerable valuables in negotiable papers.

Entrance was gained by forcing the back door of the shop, according to city detectives who are investigating.

Clothing valued at $300 was stolen from the home of Mrs. J. H. Reed last night by burglars who gained entrance through the rear door.

Burglars entered the home of J. C. McKinney early today and stole $200 in cash from a bureau drawer, according to a report made to city detectives.

At the home of Max Mullen burglars forced a rear window and stole $60, after making search of several rooms.

Mrs. Nathan Rueben reported to the police today that some thieves last night forced an entrance to the home while the family slept and escaped with jewels valued at $45 and $15 in cash. Entrance was gained by "jimmying" a rear window.

Grand Inner Circle Degree On April 29

Last night's regular meeting of Charleroi Circle 303, Protected Home Circle, was in keeping, if not in advance, of recent events of this organization.

Noticeable, were the applications for new members, as well as the introducing by ritualistic observance, of a number of persons admitted to full membership.

Under the head of reports of special committees, the committee having in charge the Foster Monday dance to be given in Turner hall April 21, reported favorably progress. The music will be furnished by the Golden Gate orchestra.

The paramount and outstanding feature, however, was the final report of the Grand Inner Circle degree, which is booked for April 29. The banquet will be held in the First Christian church dining hall, with the Ladies' Aid society of the church as caterers. The address of welcome will be made by J. Bryant Tussing, president of council.

The ceremony and initiatory degree work will be held in the Lyceum of St. Jerome's Catholic church, and promises to be one of the best yet held in the history of the local society. Circle officers will be present from Sharon, and local business and professional speakers will be included among the contingent taking part in the program.

Delegations from Uniontown, Connellsville, Mount Pleasant, Brownsville, Latrobe, Monessen and Donora are expected to lend the grace and value of their presence. The affair will be in charge of Mrs. Maude M. Hobough, State Deputy. This is the second time Charleroi has been chosen for the Grand Circle Degree meeting place, and it is considered an enviable honor. A class of about 50 will receive the Inner Circle degree work, and be instructed in the ceremonies incident to the highest degree in the order.

Brings Suit For Damages In Injuries To His Daughter

Daniel Tylavsky, of Slovan, on behalf of himself and on behalf of his 11-year-old daughter, Mary, has filed a damage suit against Henry Povero, of Burgettstown, in which he seeks to recover $10,000 on behalf of the daughter and $5,000 for himself, as a result of serious injuries sustained by the daughter when run down by an automobile of the defendant.

The accident occurred on the Burgettstown-Slovan road on March 28 of this year. The accident, it is averred, was due to the reckless driving of the defendant, who, it is averred, swerved his car from his proper side of the road to the other side, striking the child, who was walking on the opposite side of the road from which the Povero car was approaching.

SOCIETY TO HOLD A SUNRISE PRAYER MEETING

The regular sunrise prayer meeting of the Christian Endeavor society will be held in the auditorium of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow at 6:30 o'clock. There will be special musical features.

SCHOOL NAMED IN HONOR OF A HEROIC GIRL

Philadelphia, April 19.—An unusual event to a Pennsylvania girl is announced in a cablegram received today by the Near East Relief office here. The cable forwarded by the government authorities in Moscow, states that "The Edith Winchester School for Nursing has just been named in honor of Miss Edith May Winchester, a Near East Relief nurse from Fox Chase, Pa., who lost her life in fighting typhus at Erivan, Armenia. The school will be operated by the Russian government in connection with the American orphanage schools at Alendropol, and will be used to train older girls for the recently created public health service of the Armenian Republic.

Another Pennsylvania nurse, Miss Katherine Macfarland of Germantown, has just established the first visiting nurses association in Greece, in order to care for sick refugees in the camps at Salanica, where there is general under-nourishment and consequently a high percentage of sickness. It is planned eventually to extend this service throughout Greece in cooperation with the Greek government. Orphan girls trained in the American orphanage hospitals will be employed. The visiting nurse system was introduced into Russia by Miss Winchester in connection with her work in Armenia several years ago.

To Rush Measure Through Conference With House, Thence to White House, Where Its Fate Is Said to Be Problematical

Washington, April 19.—(United Press)—Overwhelmingly passed by the Senate late last night, the immigration bill and its controversial Japanese exclusion feature, will be rushed through conference with the House in the next few days and be sent to the White House, there to meet a problematical fate.

President Coolidge has just given no inkling of how he will treat it. Powerful pressure has been put on him by administration leaders in the Senate and those in charge of his campaign to approve it, and equally powerful arguments have been advanced to him by other advisors to veto it.

Those who would have him approve it point to the enormous majorities by which the bill has been passed in both houses, by four to one in the House and ten to one in the Senate. To veto it, they say, would be futile, as passage over the veto is inevitable with a breach opened between the president and his party in congress.

Political advisors of the president further point out that a veto might alienate his support in the Pacific Coast states, where Japanese exclusion is and has for years been ardently sought, and where a veto would probably be considered an affront.

They recall the disaster which followed the supposed affront by Secretary of State Hughes to Senator Hiram Johnson in California in 1916 when Hughes was the Democratic candidate. It has always been claimed that Hughes' failure to call on Johnson when they were in the same hotel incurred the displeasure of Californians to such a degree that the incident was responsible for the state going for Wilson, while Johnson carried the state by an enormous majority.

With such an indication of the political temper of the Pacific coast when it suffers fancied affronts, they counsel the president to take heed of the consequences of a veto. The fact that Hughes plays a part in seeking (Continued on page six)

They recall the disaster which followed the supposed affront by Secretary of State Hughes to Senator Hiram Johnson in California in 1916 when Hughes was the Democratic candidate. It has always been claimed that Hughes' failure to call on Johnson when they were in the same hotel incurred the displeasure of Californians to such a degree that the incident was responsible for the state going for Wilson, while Johnson carried the state by an enormous majority.

With such an indication of the political temper of the Pacific coast when it suffers fancied affronts, they counsel the president to take heed of the consequences of a veto. The fact that Hughes plays a part in seeking (Continued on page six)

PRESIDENT GIVES NO HINT

Washington, April 19.—(United Press)—Overwhelmingly passed by the Senate late last night, the immigration bill and its controversial Japanese exclusion feature, will be rushed through conference with the House in the next few days and be sent to the White House, there to meet a problematical fate.

President Coolidge has just given no inkling of how he will treat it. Powerful pressure has been put on him by administration leaders in the Senate and those in charge of his campaign to approve it, and equally powerful arguments have been advanced to him by other advisors to veto it.

WHAT EASTER MEANS.

Inspired through the resurrection of Jesus, a band of fishermen initiated the observance of Easter, a movement that has become the most powerful spiritual force in existence, for it does away with barbarism, and cruelty and wrong wherever it obtains recognition in the minds of men.

On Easter day, and the occasion here this year promises to be pleasant as it is salubrious, many people, with unseeing minds, look only at the surface aspects. They note the music, and the pretty clothes and think that is all—they do not see the full beauty of the festival.

With the advent of spring comes the sweet perfume of flowers, and the budding beauties of nature's resurrection. The vegetable and perhaps something akin to the reincarnation of human life. Certainly it is a similarity between animal and vegetable and human life, but we cling to the faith that man, of all creation, is mortal, and his soul endures forever; and that is the lesson taught in the resurrection of the Great Jehovah.

At Easter, the loyal heart is once more reminded that his Maker is ever trying to enter within its portals, and to mold human life and social institutions into forms of love and justice. His efforts to win human loyalty may be felt in the experience of anyone with the open heart. The most wonderful and historic of these efforts was the mission of Jesus Christ, who revealed God's nature and strove to win men into harmony with it.

Whether the world accepts or rejects these advances of the divine life, is purely a matter of choice. This is a world of entire personal freedom. People or nations who are made good simply through compulsion or fear, have no real character. No force of resistance has been built up in them.

May the church communicants and those who are publicly signifying their belief in the principles of Christendom tomorrow, catch and be imbued with the true spirit of Easter. Christ's resurrection from the dead, his birth, are the most important epochs in all the world's history.

A thing of beauty is always a great expense.

If some men would conceal what they know they would be more popular.

Life would be one grand sweet song if it was as easy to borrow money as it is to spend it.

The way to make an ideal husband is to begin spanking him for selfishness at the age of three.

Girls and billiard balls kiss each other with about the same amount of real feeling.

Even in leap year a man is free to select the thumb he will dwell upon.

Redbirds or no redbirds, spring has come, carols Gladys. After consuming a part of her cafeteria luncheon the other day she saw a dream-eyed young man walk off and leave his cherry pie in a mess.

You don't have to be a dentist, to get on people's nerves.

Everything comes to those who wait on themselves.

Work is all right if a person has enough spare time to do it.

It always seems to be the other fellow who is stubborn.

Entirely too many girls get married to keep from being old maids.

Rivals for the next Republican nomination seem to be afraid that the President's nickname is merely a short one for "Calculating."

The energy expended on any basketball court in playing the few minutes the game requires would prepare the ground and plant a hundred acres of wheat. The difference is because there is no one paying a good admission to sit on the sidelines to watch you plow and sow.

What has become of the family man who used tallow candles exclusively and argued that electric lights were awfully hard on a person's eyes?

My sweetie looks into my eyes—sighs—I like her;

And when she smiles at gently sighs—I like her;

There's just one thing to do, by gee;

I LOVE her!

With waves of advice on how to live to 100 passing over the country one is reminded of Blankville and the Linker twins.

The native of Blankville pointed with pride to two doddering ancients hobbling down the village street and informed an out-of-town visitor:

"Them fellers is the Linker twins—99 years old!" The visitor was duly impressed, and to appear interested asked to what the twins attributed their long life.

"Well," was the response "Jake declares it's because of his chewin' and smokin' day in and day out, for nigh on to a hundred year an' Olanah avows he has his health because he never touched the filly weed."

Fox World's Greatest
Debater at Age of 19

Recent rivalry as to who is the "baby" member of congress has caused some of the bookishly inclined to hunt up records revealing that although William Pitt was premier of England at twenty-four, and although Charles James Fox was acknowledged to be the greatest debater in parliament at about the same age having got in when he was nineteen there once was a young man elected to the congress of the United States when he was twenty-four years old and too young to vote under the constitution.

This young fellow was John Young Brown of Kentucky, who could not take his seat until the second session of the Thirty-sixth congress, who later served in two other congresses, and was governor of his state.

John Randolph of Roanoke on account of his youthful appearance, was challenged by the clerk of the house, who asked how old he was. Randolph replied that he had better go ask the people who elected me.

Henry Clay is the only man in history who served in the senate before he was thirty years old, "but he knew enough to keep his mouth shut about his age and no one else thought of it," the late Champ Clark commented. Clay was later secretary of state under John Quincy Adams and twice defeated for the presidency, by Andrew Jackson in 1822 and by James K. Polk in 1844—Kansas City Star.

Sea Gypsies' Homes in Boats

The sea gypsies, who are also called mawken ("the sea-drowned folk") belong to the Mergui archipelago, and the march to the sea has forced them first from the mainland to the islands and then to the sea. They consequently live their whole social life at sea, and while they are neat, temperate, fearless, peaceful and chaste, says Prof. J. Arthur Thomson in "What Is Man?" the boats, which are their homes, are the last word in dirtiness to our western notions. Everything from fish—their staple food—to pearl oysters is cleaned in the boat. Because "anything that would attract the sharks is fatal, hence nothing is thrown overboard. It is horrible, but intelligible."—Detroit News.

EASTER.

Rev. M. B. Sloan.

On Easter morn Christ rose from the grave,
Where he went a sinful world to save,
But now, King of Kings, He reigns above,
With saints redeemed by infinite love.

For the world He made received Him not,
He was scorned by those His blood had bought;

For upon Him, all man's sins were laid;
On the cross, all of man's debts were paid.

As He arose, so shall we arise,
To abide with Him above the skies,
No more to wander from Him we love,

But laud and praise Him ever above,
But we may have heaven's joys here below,

If we walk as Christ would have us go,
For Heavenly bliss begins on earth
In all who have passed the second birth.

So let our glad Easter songs arise,
To our risen Lord above the skies,
And watch and wait His return again,

To his fallen but redeemed domain.

"Intellectuals" Think
Dirt Is Mark of Genius

The evolution of the "intellectual genius" can best be studied at close range in Greenwich Village, New York city, the congregating point for the sex-stuff writers and their friends.

In one of the cross streets off the lower end of Washington square is a "coffee house" equipped with low divans covered with pieces of ragged old carpet, and chairs and benches cut down to bring their users close to the floor. The lighting is subdued, the air heavy with cigarette smoke, and an open fireplace gleams in warmth, for its log is painted red, and the flame an effect in color from a concealed electric bulb.

"They come in here, many of them," remarked the proprietor, who has kept at close grips with his sense of humor, "and I have often revolted at their dirty collars, unwashed necks, long, streaky hair and generally unmy appearance. But it is not because of the scarcity of soap or the lack of baths. To be unclean, sluttish and conspicuous through that pose is as studied a part as taken by the Broadway actor who makes up for a character in a play."

Johnson, Swift and others of their period set a precedent for literary men by arraying themselves in simple clothing which they wore out. But they kept clean. They did not carry their content of the mob to the extent of going about unwashed. Down here in the Village the leaders of the MFA-Victorian and earlier intellectual groups decided that if they would go about in dirty linen and clothing they might attract attention."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Buick Value—The Measure of Automobile Values

People now-a-days measure automobile values on the basis of Buick value. How often you hear such remarks as: "It's not nearly as good as Buick". People make these remarks both consciously and unconsciously. Consciously, because they actually know Buick value either from their own experience or that of their friends; unconsciously, because for twenty years Buick has been the accepted standard of the industry. Good reasons both why you should own a Buick.

"THE MAIL MAN"

AT THE MAJESTIC

With the authorization of a service on board the Leviathan, greatest of all ocean greyhounds, the ultimate step in the organization of our vast mail system is realized.

The first known message, a dove carried the first known message back to the ark, the method of communication has steadily improved, in spite of tremendous obstacles and natural impediments.

When Emory Johnson, eminent motion picture director, produced "The Mailman," he clearly saw the possibilities of weaving around the romantic history of the mail service, a highly entertaining dramatic story, which would at the same time, set forth the men who made that service possible in a better light before the people of the nation.

Tracing the development of methods of postal communication in the prologue, during the years, when mail was carried first on foot then on horse and on mules as well as on dog sleds, reaching through North America, Johnson goes on with the best triumph—the floating palace of steel which recently put the American

Mystery in Letter "O" Found in Windsor Castle

High up on the wall, near the Norman gate, at Windsor castle, is a stone upon which is engraved the letter "O." The letter is about five inches in diameter, and deeply cut in the hard stone. How did it come there and for what does it stand?

Tradition says that it records the height of Oliver Cromwell's giant porter, who was stationed at the gate house to keep away intruders. Saying that the letter is eleven feet from the ground, this was a "tall" statement and even when it is explained that the roadway has been lowered, it leaves one with the impression that this "Roundhead" must have been a giant indeed.

The probable explanation is that this huge fellow, having little else to do but parade up and down, passed his spare time in carving the initial letter of his master's name.

This gigantic porter was a great character, and frequently preached in the parish church of Windsor, much to the annoyance of the incumbent, who, in those days, had to keep a small tongue in his head. The strange thing is that this servant of Cromwell kept his position at the Restoration and curiously enough for a man of his religious scruples, treated as one of his most treasured possessions a little Bible given to him by "Sweet Nell of Old Drury."—London Tit-Bits

Maya's Calendar Dates Back to Aug. 6, 613 B. C.

The earliest dates in New World history are August 6, 613 B. C. and December 10, 390 B. C., by the present system of marking time the Peabody Museum of Harvard University announces in making public the first solution of the chronology of Mayan dates.

The formal New Year had originally stood at the winter solstice just 12 days after the recorded date, December 10, 550 B. C., when the calendar was inaugurated. Other dates strongly emphasized in Mayan records are March 21 and September 23, the points of the equinoxes, and December 22 and June 23, the points of the solstices, says the Detroit News. Three famous tablets at Palenque carry the calculation backward from September 23, 430 A. D., the day of the autumnal equinox, to 3373 B. C. in an effort to reconstruct the conditions of the natural year at the epoch of the Mayan era.

Fortune in Graveyard

Ivory is one of the most valuable products of animal life, used for innumerable necessary articles in both civilized and uncivilized peoples, but only a small part of it is ever turned to use. Few of the elephants that have the best ivory tusks are ever killed or taken. And there are laws now that prohibit the slaying of these beasts merely for their ivory. But where do all the dead elephants go? Very few are found who died a natural death, and the reason for this is that whenever an elephant feels old age and death coming upon him he starts on a trip to the "burying ground" of his species. He usually leaves in plenty of time to live until he arrives there. And there, surrounded by the countless skeletons of elephants before him, he lies down to die. It is asserted by scientists and hunters that the man who comes across this cemetery of elephants will find much wealth in the tusks that lie with the bones of ages of elephants.

Like the Weather.
"Don't get disappointed," said Uncle Eben, "if de chillun don't go on hein' good after Christmas like dey was jes' hefo'. It's only natural. De weather's likely to be jes' de same way."

Stringed Instruments From Egypt.
Stringed musical devices, thought to have originated in Europe during the Middle Ages, came from the Egyptian lute.

Speak the Truth.
To be wiser than other men is to be honest than they; and strength of mind is only courage to see and speak the truth.—Hazlitt.

Nothing to Fear.
Clerk—Besides, there is another advantage about these goods. You need not fear they'll shrink in the wash. You see, it can't be washed at all.

Lots of Books.
It is estimated that something like 10,500,000 different books have been issued since the invention of movable type in the Fifteenth century.

It All Depends.
"Dar am' no true sincerity in wishin' a man Happy New Year," said Uncle Eben, "when de social occasion is a sho' nuff serious crap game."

Pawnee Indians Were

Whirlwinds in Battle

The Pawnees were never disciplined in a military sense. On one occasion when they were to start on a scout early in the morning, three days' rations had been issued to them. They ate every ounce that night and had nothing to eat until the afternoon of the second day, when they shot a few antelope.

They obeyed orders and suggestions preliminary to a combat, but in a charge or sudden attack they reverted to their own methods and were whirlwinds in a fight. Major North stated that in an engagement near Wood River, Neb., where the Sioux were completely surprised, the scouts charged, firing their repeating carbines, flung them aside when empty, used revolvers in the same manner and wound up the fight with bows and arrows. They had to go over the field afterward to recover discarded weapons. I saw the command as they passed through Julesburg; they had eight scalps decorated and stretched on hoops. The next night I witnessed their scalp dance. It was the most thrilling savage rite I have ever seen.

A Pawnee stripped for action and in war paint was a striking object. The head was shaved excepting a narrow ridge of hair in the middle that stood erect like a roached mane from the forehead to the crown where it ended in a scalp lock. A large circle about each eye was filled in with black, the rest of the face and portions of the body were streaked with vermilion and yellow. At a short distance their faces resembled decorated skulls.—E. T. Scott in Adventure Magazine.

That's Different.

Judge—"You are charged with being a deserter, having left your wife. Are the facts of the case true?" Prisoner—"No, your honor, I am not a deserter. Just a refugee."—Punch Bowl.

The Missionary Movement.

care to join in the new missionary movement?" Flapper—"I'm crazy to try it. Is it anything like the fox-trot?"—Everybody's Magazine.

Misty.

Lazy Luke—"If you 'ad ter work, Dozey, wot kind of er job woder you like?" Dozey Dan—"Er, well, I believe dat drivin' automobiles in Venice would about suit me."

HURRYING UP THE IMMIGRATION BILL

to prevent enactment of the exclusion is not overlooked.

Meanwhile the diplomatic angles of the situation are being canvassed by Secretary of State Hughes and a way out of the impasse is being sought. It is not known that he has counseled a veto, but that he desires to ease the blow to Japan's pride is sufficiently manifest.

In some quarters it is reported that Ambassador Hanihara will send another note to Hughes disclaiming any intention of making threats in his "grave consequences" note and thus pave the way for President Coolidge to ask congress to reconsider its action.

As finally passed the senate bill closely resembles that of the House in that it provides for quotas of two per cent based on the 1890 census and excludes Japanese. Minor administrative details will be ironed out in conference.

THE ARCH PRESERVER SHOE

COME to the demonstration at our store this week and get acquainted with the shoe that will help you stay young.

From now on you will be able to use your stylishly shod feet as much as you like in perfect comfort. The Arch Preserver Shoes gives you the walking base that Nature planned—support at the arch where support is needed; flexibility at the ball, the only place the foot bends.

Walking just a few steps in these shoes will convince you that they offer advantages you can not get in any other shoe. The special demonstration week is about over; will you come?
